

CSOFF, Alicia

WALSINGHAM

Alicia joined the Board of Directors in January 2018.

Alicia works with the Delhi Community Health Centre's Pediatrics program, assisting in the expansion and coordination of consultative services and supports to children, adolescents and families within the community. She has been part of multiple volunteer and training programs, developing her knowledge and background in children's mental and physical health, and wellbeing. She works hands-on with children, families, and care providers to educate, provide support, and coordinate access to services.

Alicia moved to Norfolk County as a young child, and returned back to her roots following completion of her Bachelors in Health Sciences from Western University. She now lives locally with her husband and family on their farm. She is passionate about lifelong learning, in any form, and has enjoyed developing her agricultural skills in recent years. In her spare time, she enjoys traveling, spending time with her family, sampling great coffee and reading.

Alicia hopes to gain a greater understanding of the needs and deficits within the community and effect change to better support our county's unique needs. She enjoys being part of a multifaceted organization that promotes inclusion and well-being for our community.
