

EVANS, Ebony

Board Member

Haldimand-Norfolk REACH first welcomed Ebony to the Board in October 2022.

Ebony Evans is a practising lawyer with the Ministry of the Attorney General. Prior to entering the legal profession, she had worked as a support worker for young adults with intellectual disabilities through the Community Living organization. Her previous experience in working directly with community members gives her key insight into ensuring the accessibility of adequate supports and services. Ebony has previously volunteered with community legal clinics where she provided legal advice to people with disabilities in the areas of Powers of Attorney and Guardianship, Consent and Capacity litigation. Ebony shares a true passion for public service and access to justice.

Ebony holds a Honours Bachelor of Arts from McMaster University, a Master's degree from Wilfrid Laurier University and a Juris Doctorate degree from the University of Windsor: Faculty of Law.
